The popular and long-cherished belief that earrings had gone the way of nose-rings, and would never again appear on civilized woman has had a subtle blow. Not only have earrings come in fashion again, but they have come in a hitherto diversified way that will make the wearer look still more like a Zulu matron. For earrings, so they tell us, must be like, as, for instance, a solitary diamond in one ear and a gold hoop in the other. What a fact for fashion and the display of individual taste (the idea offers).

It cannot be foretold what the outcome will be, but it is a problem that the board will have to grapple with tonight at its regular meeting.

TUESDAY, SEPT. 5, 1899.

Col. Bryan declares that "the outlook for success in 1900 was never better than at present." This means nothing. In 1900 the success of the Democrats will be the same as in 1896—defeat. Such an outlook the party is welcome to.

The Louisville nationalist primary contest is going to live the Goebel campaign votes in the metropolis. The straight Democrats are against the ticket and the way it was chosen and they are not going to support it. There will be two Democratic tickets in the field and therefore a split vote.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat says: "A political test with a large class of Missouri Democrats is merely that of the label on the ticket. If the tag is 'Democratic' the principle goes." Kentucky has some of the same sort of Democrats. They pride themselves on being of the "yellow dog" variety. With them it is the "party" and not the principle. Just now it is Goebel, the man, and nothing else.

The Brownlows should not waste their breath trying to get the Goebels to divide time with them; for they will not do so, the boss having said, nay, Pauline. What the Brownlows should do is to follow up the Goebells and speak immediately after them if they have to wait another day to do so. The Goebells are dodging all contests and don't want to be interrupted in their misrepresentations of facts, and want to be there.

Goebel now says it was not Theodore Hallam's brother who was in the Confederate army and was sent to the penitentiary as a prisoner of war, that he referred to "a convict," but another brother, Mr. Hallam says he had two brothers in the Confederate army and that any intimation that they were in prison except as war prisoners of whole cloth and malicious in the extreme. Every good soldier, and there are many, who what army he was in, should and no doubt will resent this or any similar attempt to besmirch the character of him who served his country as a duty called him, for the honor among this class is unexcelled by any of the hunting class.

FIGURES WON'T LIE

The Louisville Times of yesterday says: "While Hon. Wm. Goebel was speaking at Lawrenceburg he read a telegram from Congressman C. K. Wheeler, of Paducah, saying W. H. Sweeney had charged in a speech that Goebel contributed to the Palmer and Buckner campaign fund. Senator Goebel said he had just replied to Mr. Wheeler's telegram, as follows:

"Sweeney's statement that I contributed $700 to Bryan Democratic campaign fund in 1896; was chairman of the Kentucky county Bryan campaign committee in 1896, when Democratic majority increased over 500, and chairman reception committee that brought Bryan to Covington in 1896."

If all the other statements of Mr. Goebel are as far from the facts as the one relative to the vote in Kentucky in 1896 then why believe him in any of them, for that one is false. Figures are things which won't lie. Figures are things which the truth is wanted. And in this connection the following excerpt is of direct interest. It is from the Louisville Post, which says:

"Here is a plain, blunt statement, having no bearing on the issues of this campaign, but made to indicate Mr. Goebel's loyalty and devotion to Mr. Bryan."

"But, curiously enough, this statement is absolutely false. The majority for Mr. Bryan in Kentucky county was not 500 greater than Mr. Cleveland's majority in 1892, but on the contrary was 1,300 less."

"In 1896 the vote of Kentucky county was distributed among the presidential candidates as follows: Bryan, 7,008; McKinley, 6,165; Palmer, 41; Levering, 108; making a total of 13,322. Mr. Bryan's majority over McKinley was 843, and over all it was 894. What was the vote of 1892? Mr. Cleveland received in Kentucky county 5,686 votes and Mr. McKinley received 3,494. The majority of Mr. Cleveland over Mr. McKinley was therefore 2,192. Instead of turning out a majority for Bryan 500 votes greater than that received by Mr. Cleveland in 1892, the reverse is the case. The majority for Cleveland in 1892 was more than twice the majority for Bryan in 1896, the year in which William Goebel was chairman of the Kentucky county executive committee.

"Behold the proof in these returns from Kentucky county:

"1892—Cleveland's plurality—2,192."

"1896—Bryan's plurality—843."

GOEBEL STYLE CONTAGIOUS.

Louisville Herald: "Goebellianism seems to be of the nature of poison ink. Its touch is followed by eruptive disorder, and the blood becomes diseased. When one reads the speeches of Charles K. Wheeler, Olie James and other Goebel orators; when the editorials of Charles Lewis, Woodson, Pat McDonald and others—old enemies when the attacks made upon Dr. Kerfoot and other preachers, and upon the school teachers of the state; upon all who refuse to support Mr. Goebel, it does look as if these assailants had eaten of the mad root. The violence, the virulence, the vulgarity, the mendacity of such attacks can injure no one but those they advocate. It is not perhaps an overestimate to say that the single attack upon Dr. Kerfoot has cost Mr. Goebel 10,000 votes; that similar attacks made by Mr. Wheeler upon the preachers and teachers have been as costly. Mr. Goebel set them an example in his notorious article in abuse of Mr. Sandford—an article so obscene that decent newspapers can not republish its vile language; and some of his advocates appear to be striving to equal their master in this style. And one question each Democrat must ask and answer is—whether he approves this humping as his style of political discussion."

A FAIR VIEW.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: "The Goebel organs in Kentucky are getting abusive. This shows that they know their fight is lost. Goebel is confronted by a powerful combination of enemies. He not only is assailed by the Republicans, but the Populists and the decent Democrats are against him. There is a possibility, of course, that he may win, even against such odds, but there is a strong probability that he will lose. If he should be elected the man of all Kentuckians who would be most surprised at the result would be Goebel himself."

MUST EARN THEIR WIFE.

Springfield News-Leader: A unique feature of the Goebel campaign is the presence in the state of a hundred or more professional political speakers imported from Indiana and Illinois, who are engaged in telling the Democratic voters what a perfect fair and open and honest thing that Louisville convention was. Just as if they knew as much about it as men who were in it. But then the imported orator must earn his hire.

THERE ARE A FEW.

Hartford Post-Sayings: "The man who considers party nominations and declarations as stoppages to conscience, reproaches his Maker for every endeavoring him with reason."

BROOKLYN CAMP MEETING.

Large Crowds Attend Every Day—Excursion Sunday.

The camp meeting at Brooklyn continues to attract large crowds from Southern Illinois, and last night one of the largest crowds ever seen in Brooklyn was present, about 200 coming from Metropolis on the late boat.

Next Sunday excursions will be run from Paducah, Metropolis, Smithland, and all places as far up as Golconda. A great deal of good is being accomplished, according to those in charge.

Observations ...at Random.

The celebration of Labor Day became more auspicious each year, as was attested by yesterday's festivities. Everybody seemed pleased, and happy, and while the business part of the day was quiet enough, the parks teemed with beauty and entertainment. The police had little to do except to enjoy themselves with everybody else. A few strong drink, but some people can always be counted on to get in this condition, no matter what the time or place.

There were not as many visitors in the city as was expected, but Labor Day has not been on the calendar long enough to draw as many people as Fourth of July. The celebration, it is repeated, was a credit to the gentlemen who managed it, and one likewise to Paducah.

Thursday night the street fair committee will meet and will doubtless by that time have secured the $5,000 needed as a starter, in pledges from the substantial business men. A great deal of interest is being taken in the street fair, and it is not desired that the colored people of Paducah, who are this year to have a fair, outside the whites. Let them now and Thursday all the work possible should be done. There is no time to lose, and every body must join in the effort to make the fair a success.

The musicale at the Y. M. C. A. to night will no doubt be attended by a large audience. Those musicians who have heard George Smith, the violinist, say that he is the best ever heard here. Several reputable musicians even go so far as to assert that his playing surpasses that of Reményi, who had a world wide reputation. "Blind Joe" simply put it in at the expression game, and this means a great deal, for Blind Joe can make a violin do anything most anyone else can make it do. In addition to Prof. Smith, there will be other notable features which cannot fail to delight those who appreciate music should not fail to attend, and even those who do not could do so with some little enjoyment out of such an entertainment.

"A man's occupation or condition has more to do with making his face than most people think," observed a gentleman who is somewhat of a judge of character. "Intellectual pursuits, like the studies of the scholarly profession, when coupled with temperate and good moral habits of life, brighten the face and give the person a refined and superior look. Magnanimity of nature or the love of study and art will make a bright, glad face, but contrary to this, a man may have a face that does not please anybody because of a love of self and the exclusion of others, notwithstanding his learning and worldly shrewdness. Soldiers get a hard, severe look; reporters look inquisitive; mathematicians look a serious judges look grave, even when off the bench; the man who has had the measles troubles looks all broken up."

"An example of the ludicrous side of this subject is to see a third class lawyer strolling around a police court looking as wise as an owl. The tongue makes the face, I say. There is the merchant's face, the doctor's face, the ministerial face, the hoodlum's face, all so distinct each from the other and singly that I seldom fail to recognize those calling through the faces. And what a healthy head cannot recognize a genuine farmer the moment he sees him on the street?"

One of the most peculiar sort of ghost stories comes from Marshall county, near Harvey. It is of course incredulous, but it is vouched for by some very reputable citizens. Near Harvey resides James B. York. About two weeks ago rocks and pebbles began falling from the ceiling. They were not large nor unusual looking, but wherever they fell they stuck there with indubitable tenacity. They neither rolled nor made a sound, but simply fell and remained where they struck. The family was appalled by the supernatural occurrence. All the windows and doors were fastened, and there was not a crack nor other opening in the walls or ceiling through which the smallest stone could fall.

It was not long until the awe inspiring occurrence was circulated broadcast throughout the neighborhood, and people began to flock there to see the silent harbingers of mysterious portent, and some of them to carry home with them the fallen stones. A young lady in the house imagined that she was the innocent cause of the strange phenomenon. She therefore moved to the house of Mr. Richard York, some distance away, and it was only a short time until the stones began to fall there just the same as at the other house.

A hunker, whose name is Edwards, and reported that he went sixteen miles to see the stones, and took one of them home with him. Two of the men who allege that they have seen the stones and pebbles fall from no where are Folk Ross and Phil Feizer, of that section. The section is much betried over the occurrence, and no one can account for it.

GOEBEL AND SCHOOL BOOKS

Louisville Commercial: "Mr. Goebel in his speeches urging his claims before the people of Kentucky insists that, in the late session of the legislature, he voted for a measure designed to cheapen school books in this state."

"Waiving the question as to whether the measure to which he refers, the China bill, would have reduced the cost of school books, the records of the senate show that he never voted for that measure at all, the China bill never having reached a vote in the senate. It is a fact, however, that Mr. Bronston introduced a substitute for the China bill, which had for its object the reduction in price of such books, and which was in every way a better and more practicable measure than the original bill.

"Instead of fixing arbitrary prices and creating a salaried commission with arbitrary power to exercise such powers regardless of merit or fitness for use in the schools, as in the case of the original bill, Mr. Bronston's substitute left books to be adopted as under the present law, and provided for a reduction in the present prices amounting to 14 per cent. Under it, for instance, without a wholesale displacement of books, as invariably results from a bill of measure like the China bill, a book that now retails for $1 would retail for 86 cents."

"In the consideration of this measure before the senate, Mr. Goebel always voted against every motion looking to its passage; and on its final reading voted against the bill itself. A majority of the Democratic vote went with Mr. Goebel, but the solid Republican vote, supplemented by the conservative element of the Democratic party in that body, carried the substitute through the senate. After its passage by the senate and after it had gone to the lower house, it was principally due to Mr. Goebel's efforts to pose as the friend of the people in that he has favored and voted for legislation intended to cheapen text-books to their children, fails to laugh. He and his partisans have stood in the path of such legislation and actually prevented it. If the present law is inadequate or unjust, then Mr. Goebel must bear his share of responsibility for its enactment, as he was a member of the senate when it was proposed, and voted for, and otherwise aided in securing its passage."

NOT FITTED FOR REVENGE

Stouffville Paragon: "It is certainly a fact that Goebel poured out of his suffrage bill, W. C. Owens, Ed. Breckenridge and Theodore Ballantyne, of Lexington, the other day because they had taken to fighting him as a candidate for governor. They may have desired the warm language to give, but it was very poor taste in him to make any such assault publicly or otherwise, and the very fact that he suffers himself to be rasped in such a ruffianly outpouring of his peculiar spirit is the best evidence in the world that he is not the proper stuff for the governor of a civilized people. He who has no control of himself is not fitted for that great office."

UNION MEETING.
Payment on Fund to Have a Minister Revival Here.
A movement is on foot to have a big union revival under a tent somewhere in Paducah early next month, or perhaps still sooner.
Yesterday there was a meeting of pastors of the various churches in the city to take the necessary action towards starting the revival, but nothing definite was done, either meeting will be held in a few days to complete arrangements. All the local ministers are taking interest in the proposed revival, and hope to make it a very successful one.

HOT FIGHT.
Over Local Option in Graves County's Metropolis.
The action question has stirred up the town of Mayfield again. September 30 is the day set for the local option election. A mass meeting was held in Carter's new opera house Sunday night, attended by fully 1,000 people. Judge W. W. Robertson delivered the principal address. Pay-or meetings will be held four nights each week and mass meetings each Sunday this month. Both sides are active and claim the victory. Mayfield has been a local option town for 26 years.
Warden Hoyt, of the Colorado state penitentiary, will attend the National prison congress in Hartford, Conn., to champion the use of the "hooking chair" in punishing convicts. Hoyt says several years ago the Denver prison were full of accounts of trouble in an industrial school for girls and young women. He was asked what he would do with these unruly girls, and replied that he would spank them. They seemed to advance at such a method and advanced several reasons why it could be done. Then, just as a joke, he suggested a hot-tempered child with paddles operated by electricity.
The humorist took it up, published a cut of the alleged child and a column article on the same, and the matter went all over the country.
"I am an advocate of corporal punishment," says Hoyt. "At this institution we spank with a paddle two feet and two inches long, three inches wide, and three-quarters of an inch thick, weighting 15 ounces and made of pine, so you can see that it does not require anything more than hand power to operate it."

A TRIBUTE TO VALOR
President McKinley Welcomes Returning Volunteers.
PAYS HOMAGE TO THE GALLANT LADS
He Will Recommend Medals For the Soldiers and Sailors, and to the "Annie" for a Dig-Extraordinary Demonstration of Popular Regard at Pittsburgh.

The home-coming of the Tenth Pennsylvania volunteers was the occasion of an extraordinary demonstration of popular regard by the people of Pittsburgh Monday, Aug. 23. The whole community turned out to do honor to the boys who acquitted themselves so nobly in a severe Philippine campaign.
Among the guests from abroad were President and Mrs. McKinley and the members of the presidential party.
Exercises of an impressive and joyous nature were held at a public park, into which the two cities poured their population. The feature of the occasion, however, was the superb address of the president of the United States.
President McKinley was greeted with applause when he arose to speak. He said:
Governor Stone and my fellow-citizens: I am glad to participate with the families, friends and fellow-citizens of the Tenth Pennsylvania volunteers in this glad reunion.
You have earned the plaudits, not alone of the people of Pennsylvania, but of the whole nation. Your return has been the signal for a great demonstration of popular regard. From your landing at the Golden Gate in the Pacific to your home-coming here you find a warm welcome and a greeting of joyous hearts, which tell better than words the estimate of your countrymen, and their high appreciation of the services you have rendered the country. You made secure and permanent the victory of Dewey. You added glory to American arms.
You and your brave comrades engaged on other fields have enlarged
the map of the United States and extended the jurisdiction of American liberty.
But while we share in the joy that is yours, there remain with us solemn and hallowed memories of those who went forth with you, not found in your ranks today. Your noble comrades, and their high appreciation of the services you have rendered the
country. You made secure and permanent the victory of Dewey. You
added glory to American arms.
You and your brave comrades engaged on other fields have enlarged
the map of the United States and extended the jurisdiction of American
liberty.
Every one of the noble men, regular and volunteer soldiers and seamen, who thus signally served their country in its extremity, deserve the special recognition of congress, and it will be to me an unalloyed pleasure to recommend for each of them a special medal of honor.

Getting on The Inside

The outward appearance of tailor-made clothing is usually good. That depends on the tailor--but it's the inside that should be taken into consideration. Pretty near time to think about that Fall Suit, isn't it? Not quite so busy now as we will be later on; have more time to be sure everything is perfect. Drop in and examine the fall suitings.

Richards & Pringle's Big Minstrel at Morton's Friday.

Richards & Pringle's "Racco" and Holland's Big Minstrel Festival with its sixty funny comedians--graceful dancers and sweet singers comes to Morton's opera house Friday, Sept. 8. The features introduced this season are novel, numerous and startling and include many innovations in the field of minstrelsy, while the singing portion of the show is the strongest ever put together. The St. Paul Cathedral chorists, a quartet of girls, possessed of magnificent voices, is one of the pleasures that has been secured, and it is the first appearance on the minstrel stage, been heard. In comedy the company is especially strong. Every body's No. 1 singing specialty has ever been "Billy Cassady's" has a brand new act, funnier than anything he has yet done; Harry Fisher also has an entirely new act; John Rucker who is styled the "Alabama Blossom" and who is conceded to be the most original of all comedians, is with the company.
